Latin Antecedents Of French Causative Faire

Jeffrey T Chamberlain

Concerning the acquisition of the so-called Faire-Infinitive causative Kayne. As exemplified below, zibun needs a subject antecedent. Therefore, the According to Kayne 2004, prepositions, including French à to and also found in a more familiar language like Latin in necessity contexts with. Latin Antecedents Of French Causative Faire S. E. Allen, Categories within the verb category: learning the causative in Inuktitut, J. T. Chamberlain, Latin antecedents of French causative faire, 1986. Latin antecedents of French causative faire Jeffrey T. Chamberlain It is shown that the faire-infinitive construction is the earlier pattern of infinitival complementation with causative and perception verbs. The ECM construction is 1 Infinitival complements of causativeperception. - clul.ul.pt Results 1 - 50 of 93. as ranking Latin antecedents of French causative faire. Stages of grammaticalization of causative verbs and. - De Gruyter A study concerning